Crime Boss 'Ill'

3 More Lemons Are Rolling Up

NEW YORK, March 16—The U. S. Senate Crime Investigating Committee, which learned about slot machines from the master himself yesterday, rang up three lemons on Frank Costello who took the gamble of his life and lost.

And this afternoon it looked like another trio of the no-pay-off lemons was being tallied against the alleged rackets king.

The Senate committee ordered him to appear again today, but he was reported to be "too ill."

The order, signed by Committee Chairman Sen. Estes Kefauver, was issued after a physician had testified that Costello was not too ill to appear.

Costello walked out of the hearing yesterday under threat of arrest and a contempt citation, claiming he was too ill and mentally upset to continue testifying.

A short time before he was due at the Senate hearing, Costello was reported by a self-identified "secretary" to be sick in bed.

"Mr. Costello," a reporter was told by telephone, "is sick in bed and not going any place today."

DR. VINCENT J. Panetteire told the committee today he examined Costello yesterday morning, found his vocal cords inflamed and advised bed rest.

Asked if Costello's condition was serious enough to make him postpone urgent business, the physician replied:

"I don't think so."

He added that he did not believe it would hurt Costello to talk in normal tones for an hour or so.

Kefauver directed that the U. S. marshal inform Costello that he must be present before the committee today.

Costello's dramatic "walk" already has started wheels turning for action against him.

Kefauver moved to call the full Senate committee together in Washington tomorrow, when no public hearing will be held, to adopt a formal resolution citing the swarthy Costello.

The resolution probably would then be presented to the Senate Monday and an arrest warrant issued following its approval by a majority of the upper chamber.

Costello, testifying for the third day yesterday, made his walkout in the face of a warning that the Senate would be asked to issue a warrant for his arrest.

Kefauver asked Costello to comment on other testimony, but the witness refused. Then the chairman said, "do you refuse to follow the direction of the chair?"

Costello snapped "absolutely."

Costello also has been threatened with deportation.

SHOWING MARKED SIGNS OF STRAIN, Frank Costello (right) is shown on the witness stand before the Senate Crime Investigating Committee in New York. He was twice threatened with perjury action as the probers, two of whom are shown with backs to camera, demanded that he reveal more details about his activities. Questions ranged from liquor deals to slot machines. Then, in a huff, Costello walked out on the hearing, now faces trouble in large portions.

DISPUTE IS STALEMATED

Wage Stabilization Plan Up To Labor Or Industry

WASHINGTON, March 16—

The government left it up to either Industry or Labor today to make the next move in the effort to set up satisfactory wage stabilization machinery.

Government officials declared that unless one side or the other takes the initiative, the Wage Stabilization Board will remain crippled.

This apparently banished any idea of President Truman may step into the picture to end the controversy between Industry and Labor by reorganizing the board and defining its authority over labor disputes.

Commerce Secretary Charles Sawyer, meanwhile, demanded tighter controls on consumer credit and higher taxes to combat inflationary "perils."

He also called for effective wage and price controls and higher production.

ECONOMIC STABILIZER

Eric Johnston disclosed yesterday he had discussed the whole stabilization problem with the President. Johnston refused to say, however, whether he had made recommendations to the chief executive for breaking the existing deadlock.

The impression prevailed, after reporters had talked to Johnston, that he had made recommendations for ending the dispute.

But stabilization officials said that Johnston has only kept Mr. Truman informed on developments, as he has Defense Mobilization Charles E. Wilson. They declared that he has submitted no recommendations on the question to the President.

The present situation is this: There is no effective wage stabilization machinery because the three Labor members withdrew from the nine-man board in mid-February after the six Industry and Public members had approved a 10 percent wage ceiling formula.

A complete deadlock has developed between Industry and Labor spokesmen over a proposal by Johnston to reestablish the board and give it limited power to settle labor disputes.

Industry spokesmen have insisted that the board's authority should be confined to handling of disputes involving wage ceilings and other stabilization questions. Labor has demanded a board which would have authority to dispose also of seniority, union security and other questions.

Lausche Pleased By Grand Jury's Probe Request

COLUMBUS, March 16—Governor Lausche said today he is "pleased" with the attitude of a Steubenville grand jury which requested a state investigation of vice and crime in Jefferson County.

However, the governor said he could not state definitely whether he would grant the jury's request for a probe by his office, the attorney general and the liquor control board, until he examines its official petition. Lausche said:

"It pleases me that they (the jurors) have taken such deep interest in the matter and recognize the need of remedying whatever abuses exist."

Without specifying any specific crimes against anyone, the jury said Steubenville Mayor Walter Sterling and Sheriff Clarence Eberts have been lax in enforcing the law.

The jury reported testimony showing that former known police characters now have legal liquor licenses in Jefferson County.

The jury charged that vice for many years "has openly operated in between sessions of grand juries."

Textile Workers Given Increase

BOSTON, March 16 — Peace was restored to the nation's textile industry today with an eleven-hour agreement between the Textile Workers Union of America (CIO) and the Fall River-New Bedford Cotton Manufacturer's Association.

A threatened strike of 200,000 cotton and rayon workers was averted only three hours before the deadline for a proposed walkout. Settlement came with union acceptance of a wage increase amounting to an average of ten-cents-an-hour.

Korea Seeks New Orders From UN

Manchuria Bombing Rights Are Needed

TOKYO, March 16 —Korean President Syngman Rhee notified Gen. Douglas MacArthur today his government plans to call upon the United Nations to authorize the bombing of Red China "to end this Chinese war" in Korea.

The venerable Korean president, in a message to the UN commander, declared:

"We are making formal request that UN may authorize you to end this Chinese war by bombing the source of Chinese reinforcement in men and material from their sanctuary in Manchuria in order to restore peace without unnecessary sacrifice of lives and bloodshed."

MacArthur, in replying, made no mention of the issue of the bombing of Manchuria. But in the past he has made it clear that he believes no military commander in history has been hampered by restrictions which prevent him from using all of his arms against an enemy.

Indirectly, the general has requested United Nations authority to bomb transportation facilities, troop concentrations and supply centers in Manchuria, the facilities from which the Chinese draw their strength for the war against MacArthur's forces in Korea.

YESTERDAY, a high American official not attached to MacArthur's headquarters, declared:

"If I was a fighter who had an advantage of four inches in height and four inches in reach but didn't know how to jab, I'd get out of the ring. Well, that's the way I feel about this war. In this war the Airforce and Navy are our jabs, but we aren't using them."

In his statement last week, MacArthur made it clear that military stalemate was certain to develop on a theoretical basis in Korea as long as present relief.

Tanker Blows Up

NAPLES, March 16—Ten men were killed and 51 wounded today when the 10 thousand ton Italian oil tanker Montalegno exploded and sank at a Naples dock while undergoing repairs.

Early Adjournment Seen By State's Legislators

COLUMBUS, March 16—Hopes for an early adjournment were carried home by lawmakers today as they wound up the 11th week of the 99th Ohio General Assembly.

The hopes were based on four parts of a legislative program that, finally, is beginning to take shape. All four deal with the matter of finance.

First, of course, is the $729 million budget bill, which will go into its second week of hearings next week before the house finance committee. If the committee can wind up its work in about four weeks, the bill can go to the senate for concurrence the first part of next month. Another four weeks for senate hearings would bring the bill to senate passage sometime in May—possibly in time for a June 1 adjournment.

Last session, the lawmakers did not call it quits until July 29—and had to work right up to the final day.

The other three measures taking shape do with the financing of schools and local governments, and the raising of additional revenue through modification of the sales tax to absorb any increase in those subsidies. The senate is ready to vote on changes in the sales tax law which would bring in an additional $17 million through taxing

Connally Raps GOP

Troops Opponents 'Follow Red Line'

WASHINGTON, March 16—Sen. Connally, (D) Tex., warned the U. S. Senate today that America delays sending troops to Europe at its "mortal peril" and charged that opponents of the plan are following the Communist line.

The Foreign Relations Committee chairman attacked the arguments raised by Former President Herbert Hoover and Senate GOP Leader Robert Taft of Ohio.

He said that "a shudder would run through the free world" if opponents to sending troops abroad won out.

Connally declared that Hoover's reasoning was "the same philosophy that reacted to depression in 1929 by establishing bread lines for relief."

He said that government aid given abroad is for American security, not just to help other people.

And without naming Taft, Connally rejected the argument raised by Republicans that American troops in Europe would

Verbal Donnybrook Seen In Senate's RFC Probing

WASHINGTON, March 16—The superheated Senate influence free-for-all exploded today into demands for explanations from the national chairmen of both the Democratic and Republican Parties.

Sen. Capehart, (R) Ind., who is in the center of the influence probe donnybrook, suggested that GOP Chairman Guy Gabrielson be called to testify on a loan secured by a company he headed.

Sen. Bricker, (R) Ohio, demanded the appearance of Democratic Chairman William Boyle in the battle, which has expanded to include the questions of continuing the investigation and possible extinction of the RFC.

Probe Chairman Fulbright, (D) Ark., has charged that political motives lie behind what he called the sudden Republican interest in the RFC.

Capehart replied to Democratic criticism of $18.5 million in loans to the Carthage Hydrocol Co., which Gabrielson headed, by saying:

"LET'S CALL HIM up here. Let the chips fall where they may. They (the Democrats) are not frightening anybody." Capehart charged furiously

Sports 'Fixer' Up To His Neck In New Troubles

NEW YORK, March 16—The gates of Ellis Island yawned today for Salvatore Sollazzo, under indictment for "fixing" 11 college basketball players to "dump" games.

Sollazzo, 47, is being held in jail without bail on a 13-count indictment charging bribery.

The deportation warrant was issued by the Department of Justice in Washington yesterday and would take effect if and when Sollazzo serves a sentence or is freed on the present charges.

The Justice Department said they had ample grounds for deportation including past convictions of Sollazzo, for crimes involving moral turpitude, entering the country without a visa, and misrepresenting himself as an American citizen to immigration authorities.

He is also under indictment by the federal government for allegedly evading $210,779 in income taxes in 1944.

The department said that Sollazzo originally entered the country legally as an infant from Italy in 1908, but went to Cuba three years ago and subsequently came back in without a visa, representing that he had American citizenship.

Bare Fists, Bayonets Fell Enemy

Communist Thrust Is Battered Down

TOKYO, March 17 — (Saturday)—Tank-led American troops caught up with the rearguard of retreating Chinese Red forces on the Central Korean front Friday evening and ripped into the enemy ranks with bayonets.

A front dispatch did not give the exact location of the bitter fighting, but graphically reported:

"Americans following tanks on foot charged the surprised Chinese with bayonets drawn just before sundown. They locked in fierce hand-to-hand fighting amid a hail of burp gun bullets and exploding Chinese 'potato masher' grenades."

"Fighting stopped at dusk with both sides withdrawing to defensive positions."

Stiffening resistance of the retreating Chinese had been marked Thursday night by a Banzai charge of an estimated 500 Red troops on the central front.

American troops broke up the attack in a four-hour struggle during which they used bayonets, small arms and bare fists. Tightened censorship regulations cloaked the exact scene of this battle.

AFTER the cracking of this counter-thrust by the Chinese Reds, the tank-powered UN forces resumed their crushing advance up four main routes toward North Korea beyond captured Seoul, Hangchon and Yudong.

Vanguards of the Allied troops were shot forward to within 15 miles of Parallel 38.

This was reported in a Friday night field dispatch which quoted an Eighth Army bulletin as saying Republic of Korea (Rok) First Division troops had completed the reoccupation of "deserted" Seoul, the national capital which has changed hands four times in the war. The Chinese Communists abandoned the rubble-laden city Wednesday.

On the central front, U. S. First Marine Division troops fastened a firm grip on the newly-captured mountain stronghold of Hongchon, 21 miles south of the 38th Parallel.

However, UN patrols ran into small arms, machinegun and some mortar fire above the city. Indications were that Allied vanguards all along the hundred mile front were beginning to bite into a new Red defense belt adjacent to and roughly 15 miles south of the parallel.

Term In Prison Is Near For New Benedict Arnold

NEW YORK, March 16—Knock on two doors a year apart.

The first brings a grim-faced, taut man.

The second reveals a man who appears fully at ease, with a smile on his face.

The same man appears each time. It is the man called "another Benedict Arnold," Alger Hiss.

On each occasion he has only one statement:

"I will be vindicated."

On Jan. 21, 1950, in the New York federal courthouse, shortly after a jury branded the brilliant former State Department official a liar and a traitor, the tense, gaunt defendant talks.

Yesterday, three days after the U. S. Supreme Court turned down his last chance appeal to stave off a five-year prison term, he cordially ushered reporters into his third-floor walkup apartment near Greenwich Village.

The tall, still good-looking man, appears relaxed. Gone are the drawn lines from under his eyes. The lanky one-time adviser to President Roosevelt, impeccably dressed in a gray suit, smiles and shakes hands.

From the kitchen comes the aroma of food being cooked by his wife, Priscilla.

Hiss outwardly looks more relaxed than at any public appearances during his two trials on perjury charges growing out of his association with Whittaker Chambers, self-confessed courier for a Soviet spy ring.

With prison doors only a matter of days away for Hiss, reporters ask the 46-year-old Harvard university graduate if he wants to make a final statement. He replies:

"My statement on Monday will stand. I will make no statements, call no press conferences, grant no interviews."

"I really see no need to make further statements. Everything has been said."

On Monday, Hiss said: "The wrong will be righted. I continue to look forward to the time of my vindication."

Ireland's Tiny Postoffice Feeling Its Annual Boom

IRELAND, Ind., March 16—Mrs. Clara Wigand's fourth class postoffice is a first class post-office today.

And why not? Mrs. Wigand presides as postmistress in Ireland, Indiana, and tomorrow is St. Patrick's Day.

Each year, thousands of people in all parts of the United States send prepared greeting cards, folders and letters to the driving hamlet, the population of which, incidentally, consists largely of people of German descent. The senders, naturally, want that timely "Ireland" postmark.

In addition, Mrs. Wigand has received the approval of the Postoffice Department to affix the mark of a shamrock stamped on the piece in green ink.

Many collectors simply enclose one or more postcards or letters with proper postage, addressed to themselves or other collectors.

Mrs. Wigand's office is the only one in the United States bearing the name of Ireland. The village got its name from the pioneer settlers who were of the Scotch-Irish variety from Northern Ireland and were of the Presbyterian religion.

The land around Ireland is quite fertile and as the number of German immigrants increased, the original settlers thought it good business to sell their land at a substantial profit to the newcomers.

It was thus that the complexion of the community changed from Scotch-Irish Presbyterianism to German Catholicism with a sprinkling of German Lutherans.

But the community kept the name of Ireland.

There are still a few of the original Irish families in the community, but they have merged with the First Presbyterian church of Jasper, the nearby county seat and drive the four-mile distance to attend worship.

There still is a small Methodist congregation with its own church in Ireland, but the majority of the citizens in and around Ireland attend services at St. Mary's Catholic church.

Many people of Irish descent come from considerable distances every year on St. Patrick's Day to honor their patron saint with a brief visit in St. Mary's church.

provoke a Russian attack. Connally said:

"This is the counsel of despair. It is appeasement of the worst sort, for it would mean that Western Europe would remain permanently weak and unarmed, a standing invitation to Soviet aggression. For years to come the issue of war or peace would be in the hands of the Soviet Union."

Connally spoke in behalf of a resolution endorsing the plan to send four additional divisions to Europe and recommending that future commitments have "Congressional approval."

He made it clear that he does not favor having the House participate in the present endorsement by adoption of a concurrent resolution.

Connally warned that America may not have time to defend itself if war strikes again, saying:

"We delay at our mortal peril. If we quibble now over the prerogatives of the President or the prerogatives of Congress we create doubt and dissension among our friends."

REA Purchase Said Largest Deal In Years

This week's sale of two garage buildings to the South Central Rural Electric Cooperative, Inc., has been tagged the largest single real estate transaction in Circleville in many years.

The contract, which saw two buildings and $63,250 change hands, had the added distinction of being directed by a single man — Max C. Seyfert Jr., local attorney.

Seyfert represented the two owners, Joe Meats and S. C. Winner, and also handled nearly all the details for the buyer, the REA.

It culminated five months of negotiations for Seyfert who declared the deal was the "largest in my memory." Seyfert has been practicing law for 30-odd years, handling real estate transactions on occasion.

The local attorney also revealed that REA had taken options on about four other locations in downtown Circleville, but preferred the Meats-Winner combination, an L-shaped chunk of real estate facing East Franklin and South Pickaway streets with the Rothman Store sandwiched in the open corner.

It also was revealed that REA exercised its Meats-Winner options only about three days before expiration of the 90-day pacts.

The general said the city is not entirely secure and advised against an immediate return of the government to Seoul from its provisional capital in Pusan.

JESUS FACES HIS DESTINY

HE RESIGNS HIMSELF TO HIS FATHER'S WILL

Scripture—Mark 14.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

IT IS always with deep sadness that we read this chapter of St. Mark. We have been studying the Lord's life, and our love and adoration have grown with the study. Now we see Him in agony, betrayed by one who should have loved and protected Him, and led away to be tried, cruelly treated, mocked, denied and deserted by His best friends.

In the home of one Simon, at Bethany, Jesus sat with His disciples. A woman entered holding an alabaster box filled with rare and expensive ointment. She approached the Master, broke the box, and poured the contents on Jesus' head.

The disciples were shocked at such waste (as they thought). The ointment should have been sold and the money given to the poor.

Jesus, knowing how short His life on earth would be, said, "Let her alone; why trouble ye her? she hath wrought a good work on Me. For ye have the poor with you always, and whenever ye will ye may do them good."

Jesus, knowing how short His life on earth would be, said, "Let her alone; why trouble ye her? she hath wrought a good work on Me. For ye have the poor with you always, and whenever ye will ye may do them good."

MEMORY VERSE

Jesus said: "Not what I will, but what Thou wilt."—Mark 14:36.

but Me ye have not always.

"She hath done what she could: she is aforehand to anoint My body to the burying."

Now Judas Iscariot, one of the Twelve, went to the chief priests and offered to betray Jesus to them for a certain sum of money. The priests were well pleased, but they didn't want to take Him during Passover, as they feared the people's anger.

The disciples asked the Lord where they would hold the Passover. He told two of them to go into the city and follow a man they would see carrying a pitcher of water. They were to follow him and say to the master of the house, "The Master saith, Where is the guest chamber where I shall eat the Passover with My disciples?"

He would show them a large upper room all prepared, and there they should make ready. It all occurred as Jesus said, and there the Master and the Twelve gathered.

As they sat eating, Jesus said, "Verily I say unto you, one of you which eateth with Me shall betray Me."

The Twelve became sorrowful, asking one another, "Is it I?" Jesus took bread, blessed and broke it, and gave it to them, saying, "Take, eat; this is My body."

And He took the cup, and sadly, "Couldst thou not watch one hour?"

Again Jesus went and prayed, returning to find them asleep again. A third time Jesus prayed and resigned Himself to God's will, and when He came to His friends He told them, "Rise up and let us go, for he that betrayeth Me is at hand."

Immediately they were surrounded by chief priests and soldiers, and Jesus went to His Master and kissed Him—not through love, but to show His enemies that He was the man they sought.

Did the disciples defend Him? Did they go with Him when He was led away? One, indeed, drew a sword and cut off an ear of a servant of the high priest, for which Jesus reproved him. Then all fled but Peter, who followed his Master at a distance.

Jesus was brought before the council of the Sanhedrin, and false witnesses testified against Him, but they didn't agree in their testimony. Jesus own answer to the chief priest condemned Him, for He said He was "the Son of Man" which was considered blasphemy.

Someone recognized Peter as a companion of Jesus, but he denied it three times, only to hear a cock crow twice. Realizing that he had done what Jesus had foretold, Peter went away weeping.

AN ACHIEVEMENT

PRESIDENT Truman is reported to have lost several pounds on his Key West vacation and to be encouraged by this subtraction from his avoirdupois.

The President, like most Americans, has been told that carrying excess weight is bad for the heart, pancreas, kidneys, gall bladder and other anatomical incidentals. It breaks down the intestines, shortens the breath, hardens the arteries and imparts a guilty knowledge of self-indulgence that prompts the individual to cut and run when he sees an undertaker.

Excess weight develops bumps and bulges on the anatomy that cheat women out of wolf whistles and the men of comelighter glances.

To counteract this bill of indictment the American people might be expected to do the things which are supposed to maintain their youthful symmetry and their organic integrity. But the American standard of living intervenes. The milk and honey symbolic of Biblical richness of living has been multiplied many times in this fortunate spot on the globe.

With the fat of the land spread out before an American, he feels deprived if he is expected to reach for a carrot instead of an avocado. What's the point of all the ambrosia if it is to be spurned?

This frustration is at the bottom of the greatest quandary that confronts the American people. It suggests some of the mad-dening aspects of Dante's Hades. There are a few who conquer, who struggle to the supreme ultimate achievement of a regained youthful figure by resolutely pushing away from the groaning board.

President Truman is entitled to rejoice over his really notable achievement in putting two or three pounds on the deficit side of the ledger.

WILL TRUMAN RUN?

Most of the pundits in Washington take it for granted that President Truman will not be a candidate for reelection in 1952, although technically he could do so despite the anti-third term amendment to the Constitution.

The President himself isn't saying anything, for obvious reasons. If he took himself out of the running now the Truman influence on Congress would descend to zero.

Washington gossip puts Chief Justice Vinson at the top of the list of Truman favorites. Many Democrats are convinced that if President Truman does not run General Eisenhower will be the Democratic candidate.

There is little doubt that Mr. Truman can have the Democratic nomination next year if he wants it. No President who has $70,000,000,000 to spend will be nixed by his own party if he seeks renomination.

First Atomic Motored Sub
Ready Within Two Years

Million Koreans Dead as Result of Warfare There

Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON—Atomic Energy Commissioner Sumner Pike believes that the end of this year will see the first atomic submarine motor in operation at the AEC's testing station near Arco, Id. Within a year of this date, such a motor should be installed in a submersible, construction of which will be started this summer.

Since the atomic process requires no oxygen, the sub will be capable of indefinite underwater range. Veteran submariners say enough oxygen can be stored to last the crew for months.

The $64 question—whether Russia also is working on such a sub—remains unanswered as far as intelligence is concerned. But all AEC members and military experts assume this is the case.

Pike revealed in an interview that the "active" part of the sub motor—the part that provides the heat which is transferred to a boiler to create steam—is small enough to be placed inside a barrel.

The heavy shielding needed against radiation is most of the weight of an atomic motor, but in case of a submarine the vessel's heavy hull will provide a good portion of this.

© KOREAN FUTURE—Republic of Korea officials are beginning to think that, ironically, the "cure" for Communist aggression may be worse than the "disease."

Yongjeung Kim, president of the Korean Affairs Institute, said that if the war continues much longer "the United Nations might win victory in a lifeless land."

He reported that due to the conflict, over one million of his people

George E. Sokolsky's These Days

I received a circular letter announcing the return of Sumner Welles to active political life. It came as a surprise because it seemed as though he were in permanent retirement.

Welles's career was in the State Department in the hey-day of the wild men whom Senator Joe McCarthy has been denouncing as much for their habits as for their policies. He returns not to public office but as chairman of a new organization now being launched called "the first Freedom International," which is a curious title. What is the importance of the words, "the first," which are printed in smaller type? There have been many international organizations which have advocated freedom. Also, the title is reminiscent of the Second International of the Social Democrats, the Third International of Stalin and the Fourth International of Trotsky.

However, this is to be an anti-Communist international and is organized, it says, because others at work are failing. The circular says:

"Freedom is the real revolution—not Soviet tyranny—and the time is overdue for us to take the initiative on its behalf, on a scale hitherto unattempted."

And to achieve this "real revolution" a catch-all committee is formed which includes all sorts of diametrically opposed individuals, from Republicans to Social Democrats, up and down the gamut of ideas.

How any Republican can fight Communism in the company of a social Democrat, or how a religious leader can tie up with a Marxist who only objects to Stalin but not to Marxism, is difficult to analyze. Yet this organizing committee includes many distinguished and important names.

I picked at random a few and telephoned and I put the query this way: "I see you're serving on a committee under the chairmanship of Sumner Welles." Each seemed to show concern, as though I had presented him with a subpoena from the McCarran committee. Each indicated that he had no knowledge that he had been asked to serve in this capacity.

I then gave the name of the organization and described its character. From some this got a response; from others it did not. In a word, there are always persons who lend their names to committee, petitions, open letters.

The card which accompanies this letter reads:

"I am happy to give my name without obligation as a member of the organizing committee of Freedom International."

Quite how one lends his name to a public cause "without obligation" is hard to understand. That is one of the most usual excuses given by those who joined Communist front organizations: They did not know that it was a Communist front organization; they did not know what was involved; they signed without obligation.

IT'S A PROMISE!

THE Federal Trade Commission has obtained the promise of 22 television set makers and their advertising agency never again to advertise that without a television set in the home, a child would be handicapped in the school, his morale would suffer and he would be humiliated among his more fortunate set-owning companions.

As an example of an offense against good taste and truth, those "child appeal" advertisements must be close to the top. Up there, too, are some television programs supposed to be good for child audiences.

have died. In addition, he said that more than 10 million of the country's 20 million population are refugees or homeless.

Many more, he added, "are dying of hunger and exposure on the roadside and in the fields and streets."

Kim said that the UN relief program, sidetracked by the war, must be brought back into action and on a larger scale or the war will literally "exterminate" the Korean republic.

● NORTH AFRICAN FORTRESS—A potential "United States Gibraltar" for sky defense of Europe will be constructed in North Africa just 15 minutes—jet plane flying time—away from Britain's great Gibraltar fortress.

Under a recent Franco-American agreement, United States Air Force engineers already have begun arriving in French Morocco to help man and modernize five French bases.

Eventually, a huge fleet of American planes presumably will be based in Morocco. Gen. Omar Bradley recently emphasized that current plans call for European air defense from such outlying bases rather than from fields in the continental United States.

French Morocco occupies a very strategic location. It is within air range of three continents and offers plenty of room for construction of long runways necessary for large bombers.

● A QUICK $10 BILLION—There is a good chance that President Truman will get most if not all of his $10 billion "quickie" tax program.

Both Democrats and Republicans in Congress realize that they must hold down any increase in the public debt, now $257 billion.

Where the remainder of the money necessary to balance the budget is coming from, however, is not clear. Under the January budget, an additional $6.5 billion would have to be raised to put the rearmament program on a pay-as-you-go basis.

By the time Congress gets around to the second tax bill, the figure may be higher.

Actually, a general sales tax still is not out of the picture as far as President Truman is concerned. When he gets around to drawing up the details for the second bill, he faces these alternatives: Still higher individual income taxes; a further increase in corporation taxes; new and higher excises or a sales levy.

CHAPTER SIXTEEN
QUINT WONDERED how the preacher knew so much about the Mohawks. He had used the late chief's Indian name; most, away from the frontier, spoke of him as "Joseph Brant." A good many, remembering his close association in the past with the hated Sir William Johnson, did not speak so respectfully of him. But Quint made no attempt to satisfy his curiosity; he was regretting that he had let the talk go on. He noticed how still Jennet was holding her fork. He said: "You're right, Pettipiece. A good shepherd doesn't quit till the last sheep's in the fold. Go after 'em and success to you."

Mollified, the old man fell to eating the corn pudding Becky had set before him. When his saucer was emptied he addressed Quint again.

"Your good wife his told me I may have the loan of your horse tomorrow for my journey to the Indian village. At such time as meets with your convenience, of course."

Anger flared in Quint. Free lodging, free meals and now a horse—yes, you can use him. It happens that what affairs will be occupying me are within walking distance of the tavern.

"God will reward you," pronounced Pettipiece with lofty benignity. He arose, then, from his chair, made his bows around the table and withdrew.

Jennet went with Rhoda to the parlor to put the finishing touches to the new dress. But Quint was too restless to join them there. He followed them to the door, stood there a moment, then decided he'd go down to Dan Piers, inquire how the new hands were working out.

He walked the distance along the narrow beach of the river. A thin mist was gathering over the water, obscuring the opposite shore as he reached the mouth of the creek and turned into the low sand dunes to cut up to Dan's cabin the stillness was split by the sharp crack of a rifle. The next instant Quint felt a smarting over the flesh of his shoulder.

Stunned, he looked about him. No one was in sight. The shot came from the trees thick on the higher ground. That it was aimed at him he had no doubt; his good fortune that it had all but missed him.

Dan stood in the cabin door. "Did ye hear a gun, a minute back, Darby?"

"Yes," Quint added grimly, "Felt it, too."

"Man, your coat's blackened across your shoulder. Come in, come in, and we'll have a look at it."

"Merely grazed the flesh, I think. Nothing to bother over."

But Dan insisted that Quint take off his coat and shirt. "I'll touch it with something to keep out the pizen. Sit down; you look some white."

Quint sat down willingly. He was shaken, not from the wound, which was slight, but by the knowledge that there was someone within the community who held such a grudge against him that he had tried to kill him.

Cordy Mossdale. The identity fixed itself in his mind.

Dan finished the dressing. "Didn't see who fired the piece?"

"No. Probably someone after crows who ran when he saw what a poor shot he was. A little more of the brandy, Dan, and I'll call myself a sound man. Where's Errol?"

"Don't know. Courtin', maybe, spring's here." Dan settled himself in a chair. "I told the boy, Darby, what you said. Any reason I shouldn't?"

"No, no reason. It's all as I said it. He ought to know, I dare say."

"He couldn't believe it at first, then he looked as proud as a peacock. Actually it seemed so he took on height. He'll be working with his whole heart, now."

Quint was reminded of one of the reasons he had come to Dan's cabin. "How are the new hands going to make out?"

"Good," Dan repeated it. "Good. They're two brothers, on their way to no place in particular and of a mind to settle down for a spell. Yes, good workers. About all they've ever done is build ships, so they knew 'em from bow to stern. Come from up Nova Scotia coast way."

"Nova Scotia?" repeated Quint with some sharpness. He would rather hear that they'd come from somewhere in the States.

"French Canucks," affirmed Dan. "Got a fancy name that's beyond my tongue to bother with. They said to call 'em Joe and Bill. Their gear's over at Widow Tobin's but I've told 'em I'd bunk them in the lean-to, back, feed 'em, too." Dan grinned. "Come May and June, the evenings are long; if they're 'round, they'll work late hours, same as Errol and me. It'll make for that hurry you want—still want it, don't ye?"

"More than ever," said Quint. Though at once he decided to say nothing to Dan about Caton's talk in the tavern kitchen the evening before, or of what Judge Merriam and Potter had said this afternoon. Time enough, later, to destroy this old man's peace of mind.

The one room of the cabin had the snugness of a ship's quarters, with its built-in bunks, sea chests, compact cupboards. A squat, square stove which Dan had brought with him from the east warmed it and on it Dan and Errol cooked their food. There was a table and the two chairs which Quint and Dan were occupying now. A man's place, comfortable enough, and always clean. Quint liked to come here and came, frequently.

The attraction, at first, had been Dan's talk of ships, on which Quint had fed his secret dream. Then it was his own ship, taking on reality. Whatever their talk, it eventually got around to the work on the brig.

"Best oak I've seen," Dan was saying now of the timber he and Errol had found over on Grand Isle. "With four of us, I'll be no time before the mast'll be ready to place. If good weather holds,

Kiernan's ONE MAN'S OPINION

Our congratulations to Elliott and best wishes for a successful fourth term.

He is one of the few bridge-grooms who can look over the wedding gifts and say: "What did the Joneses send this time?"

But you just know Spring is here when Elliott starts a fourth honeymoon while Faye is returning from a third.

Meanwhile, some of the Washington crowd is sending telegrams to Harry reading: "Better hurry back, the honeymoon is over."

Even the bipartisan boys are getting more partisan—some toward their own party.

Some people confuse "coalition" with "bipartisan," but they're not quite the same. "Coalition" means "we are equal partners in government," but "bipartisan" means "junior partner wanted to help front for senior partner's policies."

Farmer Cullman wrote to a poultry dealer, "Sir! The crate you shipped those hens in was so dilapidated, it fell apart while I was bringing it home from the railroad depot, and all the hens escaped. I only rounded up ten of them. Kindly send refund." Back came a letter reading, "Congratulations on your vigilance. There were only six hens in the crate. Bill for additional hens is enclosed."

When Paulette Goddard vacationed in Mexico City last winter, she was squired about town by one of its richest and most eligible bachelors. On the eve of her departure for Hollywood, he announced, "I would like to give you an example of our native products as a memento of your visit." Miss Goddard's prompt suggestion was, "How about a Mexican Cadillac convertible?"

More Corn Per Acre Is 1951 Need

Midwest Group Cites Conditions

CHICAGO, March 16 — More corn per acre—rather than just more acres in corn—is what is needed on many Midwest farms this year, according to Middle West Soil Improvement Committee.

With the lid off on 1951 corn acreage allotments and prospects of a "feed squeeze" ahead, the need for more efficient soil management methods to build higher corn yields per acre is more critical than ever, says the committee.

Agronomists at Midwest agricultural colleges are advising farmers to make long range plans now for high crop yields. They point out that the present international emergency may last a long time. And whether there is a hot or cold war, we will steadily need more food in the years ahead.

"The secret of getting and maintaining high corn yields per acre," says the committee's statement, "lies not only in providing a well-balanced supply of nutrients, but in giving the soil a backlog of plant food and organic matter on which crops can draw."

"THE USE OF LIME and a complete fertilizer containing nitrogen, phosphate and potash is of top importance. Vital, too, is a rotation that centers around deep-rooted legumes such as alfalfa and sweet clover. Well-fertilized legumes, reinforced by manure and crop residues will add tons of valuable organic matter to the soil. This organic matter improves soil tilth, structure and drainage. It conditions the soil to make more efficient use of fertilizer and to produce more bushels of corn per acre."

"Important, too, in getting top corn yields is a planting rate that provides a big enough stalk population to take advantage of the soil's improved fertility."

Sunrise Nursing Home Decorated With Gay Colors

Allowing those patients that are able, to do just about as they please is part of the policy of the Sunrise Nursing Home, South Scioto street, now under the management of Mr. and Mrs. Donald McGath.

The McGaths, formerly of Washington C. H., purchased the 16-room house from the former owners and have completely renovated the 100-year-old residence.

An air of gaiety is being added to the staid dignity of the "old Crow house" built at the time Circleville was really a "circle."

The conventional institutional look has been banished by the daring use of bold colors in paint and wallpaper.

Every inch of the house is being painted or remodeled to make it a restful place for the patients and a happy home for the McGaths and their five-month-old daughter.

In each room there are unexpected splashes of white or bright colors in contrast to the richer shades of blue, maroon and old rose.

"We hated to paint the black walnut woodwork," said McGath, "but it made the rooms look dark and we're hoping to

37th Division May Train At Wisconsin Camp

COLUMBUS, March 16—It appeared today that Ohio's 37th National Guard Infantry Division will train this Summer at Camp McCoy, near Sparta, Wis., between Aug. 15 and Aug. 29.

Brig. Gen. Kenneth Cooper, assistant adjutant general, made the arrangements with Fifth Army officers yesterday in Chicago. The formal announcement will be made as soon as the commanding general of the Fifth and Second Armies confirm the plans.

The Guard's prospective training location has been switched several times since it became evident that its previous training site at Camp Atterbury, Ind., was not available.

Camp McCoy is an unusual choice in that it is in an area controlled by the Fifth Army, while Ohio is in Second Army territory.

Troop trains will make the trip from Columbus in about 17 hours running time. Motor convoys, which include artillery, will require 48 to 60 hours on the roads.

County, City CD Expenses Split

COLUMBUS, March 16—Attorney General C. William O'Neill holds that counties and their municipalities may split the expenses of a Civil Defense program.

O'Neill specifically ruled the Montgomery County commissioners may contract with the city of Dayton for cooperative action in the appointment of a Civil Defense director. He also said the commissioners may pay the city an agreed portion of the expense of operating a Civil Defense agency, in accordance with the state Civil Defense law and a proclamation by Governor Lausche last year.

EASTER PARADE PREVIEWED

Girl Writer Eyes What Other Half Will Wear

By INEZ ROBB
INS Staff Writer
NEW YORK, March 16 — I have been reading about new Easter outfits for several weeks now and have idly wondered what people are using for money this season.

However, until today I had been prone to rise above such mundane things. I had simply planned to retrim my barrel—a good, basic barrel bought four seasons ago in Macy's Basement just as inflation set in.

I had felt that I would be both distingue and ne plus ultra, not to mention haut mode, in the Easter parade with my basic barrel trimmed in tier upon tier of pinch pleated income tax that pinches as prettily as an income tax unless it is a congress-man.

In addition, I had planned new manners of chattel mortgages caught up with bow-knots of promissory notes. It seemed to me that this tout ensemble worn with my last-season's Sally Victor, up-dated by a veiling of butcher's bills, would win the cordon bleu for me.

WENT TO THE mo'om pitchers last night in Radio City Music Hall, expecting to see—of all things—mo'om pitchers. This just shows how out of touch I am with things. The Music Hall has not yet ad to resort to popcorn or free dishes, but is offering a free fashion show as part of its annual Easter pageant.

And while I do not think this fashion show will make girls leave home, it is apt to drive more than one outraged male out into the night, never, never to return until the little woman quits dreaming of $595 Mother Hubbards embroidered in gold, sprinkled with sequins and worn with an ermine duster designed by Miss Esther Dorothy.

The show, assembled under the auspices of the International Silk Association, USA, is the sort of thing that makes a girl feel she hasn't a thing to wear, not a decent rag to her name.

There was I, happy as a lark at pearly dawn, with my basic barrel. And thirty minutes later I realized that the staves don't hang right and that the hoops are beginning to bulge.

Creations—and laws! If that isn't the right name for them—designed by 25 of America's foremost couturiers and chosen from their current collections will make every woman wonder why she didn't beat the current Begum to the Aga Khan.

Nettie Rosenstein, who doesn't have a barrel in her salon for under two-three hundred dollars, is represented by a dusty pink and blue net ball gown that would have batted two princes for Cinderella.

WOMEN FAINTED and strong men wept (at the possible price) of a champagne metallic gauze period gown designed by Jane Derby. I couldn't help thinking that Marie Antoinette had been born two centuries too soon.

My ole barrel seemed especially saggy and sprung at the seams by contrast with the white organdie strapless evening dress with scrolls of venetian lace, chalk bugle beads and complications of rhinestones. Designed by Mark Mooring of Capri, this dream dress was worn with a watermelon pink taffeta shoulder cape that developed into a train, for heaven's sake.

Grandma or Scarlet O'Hara never had hoop skirts as wide as the dough girls will wear this season.

Ceil Chapman is represented in the fashion show by a sapphire blue bouffant net creation worn over so many layers of crinoline that the gal will never get in the house unless they chop down the French docks.

Well, there are bathing suits, too: the practical kind woven of kelly and chartreuse silk gros-grain ribbons and worn with a stole of beige fishnet (honest, kids, I ain't kiddin') trimmed with multicolored yarn bows.

What I always say is: It's lovely to see what the other half wears.

Albert Einstein Is 72 Years Old

PRINCETON, N. J., March 16 —Dr. Albert Einstein celebrated his 72nd birthday Wednesday and made only one deviation from the practice of observing his anniversaries by sticking to work-day routine.

He forewent his usual walk to the Institute for Advanced Study and appeared instead before a distinguished audience in Princeton Inn. There the renowned mathematician and physicist presented the Albert Einstein Award in Natural Science to Prof. Julian Schwinger of Harvard and Prof. Kurt Goedel of the Institute for Advanced Study.

Cheating On Tax May Hurt Health

STAMFORD, Conn., March 16 —A Stamford psychiatrist says cheating on his income tax may start a man toward a nervous breakdown.

Dr. Stanley R. Dean warned that "for every $100 a man saves by fraud on his tax return he may spend $1,000 in mental and nervous health. I have seen it happen."

$100 Million Tax Take Noted

CLEVELAND, March 16 — Internal Revenue agents in the Cleveland district prepared to tabulate uncounted millions today and reported that last-day receipts for the 22-county region totaled $100 million.

Federal Tax Collector Thomas M. Carey said he could not make any estimate covering amounts collected since Jan. 1, but said yesterday's $100 million one-day "take" was not unusual.

Carey added that returns from large corporations made up the bulk of the returns filed at the last minute and that his office does not expect this year's total collections to break any records.

State Counting New Ventures

COLUMBUS, March 16—Secretary of State Ted W. Brown has announced that Ohio placed third in the nation in the number of new businesses incorporated during January.

Brown said Ohio granted articles of incorporation to 564 new businesses in January 1951, compared with 542 in January last year. Only New York and California exceeded Ohio.

Ohio's January incorporation fees came to $59,125, compared with $50,144 in 1950.

Ohio Dope Cases On Increase

WASHINGTON, March 16—The Federal Bureau of Narcotics said today the cases of narcotics and marijuana violations in Ohio during the year ended June 30, 1950, were 79 more than the previous 12 months.

The bureau handled 302 cases of which 183 involved possession or sale of narcotics and 114 marijuana violations.

Teen Tips

How can a girl make the right choice in a husband—or even have a chance to be married—if she's not allowed to have dates when she's in the late 'teens? It's a tough problem for this girl and others like her:—

"This letter is about one of those fathers who don't believe in letting their daughters have dates. Don't you think I should be allowed to have dates? I am 19 years old and haven't had fun at all—just go to dances and shows with my married and little sisters. I am the 5th girl in my family; several of the others are married. Can you help me?"

You are certainly old enough to have dates—and should have begun to have them in high school, if you're trustworthy about coming home on time, etc. Sometimes it helps convince parents you've reached dating age if you behave in a grown-up way, helping around the house, taking the responsibility of the care of your clothes and belongings and plan your time wisely.

If you see that your father has a chance to meet boys who ask you for dates, perhaps he'll be more willing for you to go out with them. It's time you were having normal boy-and-girl fun, and getting acquainted with them in a wholesome way.

If you never have dates, how can you ever know what kind of boy you really like best? Ex-

Father And Son Given Stiff Fines

COLUMBUS, March 16 — The father and son owners of Ohio Valley Grocery Co., Marietta, are under five years probation today following federal court conviction of income tax evasion.

Joseph Haddad was fined $10,000 and his son, Leo, $5,000 after they entered a plea of guilty to evading payment of $3,045 in income taxes.

A similar indictment against Mrs. Katherine Haddad Conner, daughter of Joseph Haddad, was dismissed.

The government said that Haddads owed $174,000 in taxes and penalties for a four-year period, starting in 1943.

plain to your father that you'll never have a chance to be married—or to make a wise choice in a husband—unless you begin to have dates now. Be sure to have your date call for you at your home and introduce him to your parents—then come home on time, proving you're a big girl now.

For help with personal problems, write to Elinor Williams at this paper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope for a reply.

Janitor Proved To Be Too Good With His Broom

CHICAGO, March 16—A hard-working janitor and the brother he summoned from Tennessee to help him will sweep no more in a Chicago drug store they cleaned too thoroughly.

Police said 29-year-old Abe L. Forrest, who wielded his broom with a view to the future, admitted sweeping between $50,000 and $60,000 worth of goods out of the downtown chain drug store where he worked for the last two years.

Business got so good that Forrest sent for his 27-year-old brother, John, a good sweeper who must appear with him in felony

Flying Tanker Is Labeled OK

DAYTON, March 16—A big tanker airplane, specially designed, works just like the Airforce said it would.

Officers at Wright-Patterson Airforce base near Dayton announced last night a six-engined court today on grand larceny charges. The janitor paid John $100 a month and thoughtfully sent $40 a month to his wife in Tennessee out of an estimated $1,000 monthly "take."

Abe met his downfall when detectives watched him sweep out an unusually large pile of rubbish. Concealed underneath the garbage were 90 cartons of cigarettes which Forrest said he sold to small neighborhood stores.

jet B-47 bomber has been refueled successfully in flight.

The officers said the job was done by the new KC-97—a flying tanker aircraft.

BIG BATTLE DUE TONIGHT

Kiwanis May Pull Quickie At Band Benefit Contest

Circleville Kiwanis and Rotary clubs, arch rivals for many years, will take their differences to court Friday night.

Basketball court, that is, with the verdict of the squabble expected to be awarded in favor of Circleville high school's crack marching band.

The court case will be a benefit basketball game between the two arch rivals in a move to raise funds for the high school's band uniform fund.

Scene of the trial will be Pickaway Fairgrounds Coliseum, with opening arguments by representatives of each side due at 8 p. m.

A RUMOR was batted over Circleville Friday that the Kiwanians will have at least one point hard to beat.

While admitting that its stand in the contest may not be too solid, the Kiwanis Clubbers are expected to pull a double deal where it counts the most—at the box office.

Debating with its conscience, the Kiwanis element reportedly has decided to clinch the case by dipping deep into the club's lush slush fund to slip the ticket taker a bale of "long green" to win sympathy for its cause.

And, of course, the cause will be the purchase of the band uniforms. Kiwanians, by rumor, are expected to flash their rolls and unwind bills containing more unfamiliar portraits to bribe their way into the court's sympathy. The reports said Kiwanians may fork over $10 or $20 bills each instead of the usual 50-cent admission fee.

Rotary, while not openly admitting it, probably will have to match the Kiwanis "bribe."

Giants Rookie Costs Phillies Prep Game Loss

MIAMI, March 16—Philadelphia's Jim Konstanty will keep a careful eye on New York's Art Wilson when the regular National League season begins.

The ace reliever of the Phillies, who was also the league's most valuable player, served up a big, fat pitch to Wilson yesterday and it cost the Whiz Kids a ball game.

Wilson, the shortstop the Giants acquired from Oakland of the Pacific Coast League, blasted a double that scored two runs in the ninth inning and gave New York a 6 to 5 victory over the National League champs.

Another Oakland acquisition, Righthander Al Gettel, worked three innings for the Giants and blanked the Phils without a hit.

The Washington Senators downed the Detroit Tigers, 5 to 4, on a seventh-inning homer by Irv Noren.

Don Richmond of the St. Louis Cardinals made a leaping catch of a line drive in the ninth inning to end a Boston Braves rally and preserve a 3-2 victory for the Redbirds.

In other games, the Pittsburgh Pirates downed the Chicago Cubs, 2 to 1; the Chicago White Sox tripped the Cleveland Indians, 10 to 9; and the Brooklyn Dodgers walloped the Cincinnati Reds, 10 to 3.

Floyd Stahl To Speak In New Holland

New Holland Bulldog basketballers are to reap the rewards of their highly successful basketball season Tuesday during the school's annual athletic banquet.

Feature of the banquet will be an address by Basketball Coach Floyd Stahl of Ohio State University.

This year's Bulldog cagers finished third in the county league, third in the county tournament and won its first game in central district Class B tournament competition.

The Bulldog banquet will be held at 6:30 p. m. Tuesday in the school auditorium under the direction of the Parent-Teacher Association.

Pat O'Sullivan Pacing Veterans

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 16—Pat O'Sullivan—an unheralded amateur with only two years of big-time golfing experience—takes a two-stroke lead into today's second round of the women's Titeholders Tournament in Augusta.

The Orange, Conn., miss stole the show from the nation's leading women performers yesterday when she shot a men's par 72.

Lagging behind the newcomer are such veteran golfers as Patty Berg of Minneapolis and Mildred (Babe) Zaharias of Tampa.

2 Unbeaten Teams Fall In Regionals

Tourney Casualty List Is Growing

COLUMBUS, March 16—Five more high school basketball teams, including two previously unbeaten squads, are strewn along Ohio's tournament trail today—the first casualties among a field of 32 regional contenders for Class A and B crowns.

Desher, which went into action in Toledo last night boasting the state's best schoolboy record of 27 straight victories, came out on the short end of a 63-40 score against Grand Rapids.

It was the 26th win in 28 starts for Grand Rapids who will meet Leesville (26-2) in a regional finale tomorrow in Toledo. Leesville, last year's runnerup to B Champ Miller City, blasted heretofore undefeated Fort Recovery 51-49 to end Recovery's win streak at 23.

Waynesburg remains the state's lone unbeaten Class B team—marking up its 25th win against Sebring; last night in Kent. Sebring's 42-36 setback was its first loss in four to a Class B school.

WALNUT CREEK proved too much for Orange (19-7) in the other half of the twin bill in Kent as the tiny Holmes County school submerged the Lions 56-41 for its 26th win in 27 contests.

The tournament's Cinderella five suffered its only defeat at the hands of Berlin early in the campaign. Walnut Creek battles Waynesburg in a feature attraction tomorrow in Kent.

Corning, another Class B repeater, which lost to Miller City in tourney play last year, won its 27th game in 28 starts last night by dropping Ironton St. Joseph 77-64 in Athens.

"Red" Courtney's victors, whose only loss this season was to New Straitsville by three points, guns tomorrow for the winner of tonight's Ashley (24-2)—Matamoras (27-4) engagement.

Seventeen others of the state's 27 survivors clash in Class A contests and two more Class B affairs tonight in Dayton, Toledo, Troy, Kent and Youngstown. The winners of all of tonight's games and of last night's five Class B tilts will fight tomorrow for four Class A and four Class B berths in the state finale March 29-31 in Columbus.

A Class B twin bill in Dayton features Marysville (18-4) against Olive Branch (27-2) and Lockland Wayne (17-5) against Blanchester (20-1).

CLASS A regional action is launched tonight on four fronts. Columbus East (22-2) will try to hand Findlay its first loss in 23 starts while Lima Central (11-7) goes after Mansfield (22-2) in Toledo. Findlay is Ohio's only undefeated Class A cage crew.

Portsmouth (18-3), the only team to defeat Hamilton (23-1),

Dayton, Brigham Young Shine In National Invitation Meet

NEW YORK, March 16—Brigham Young and Dayton—both novices in National Invitation Tournament play—constituted the lone stumbling blocks today to the other's championship aspirations.

The pair of them—one a true darkhorse and the other just a pale gray—scrambled into tomorrow's finals with impressive triumphs last night in Madison Square Garden.

Unsung Dayton downed St. John's, 69 to 62, although it required an overtime period after the top-seeded Redmen had come from ten points behind in

Conservation Unit Taps Dambach For Special 'Oscar'

CLEVELAND, March 16—The Ohio Conservation Congress to-day named Dr. Charles A. Dambach of Columbus "Ohio's Man of the Year in Conservation."

Pat Patterson, Cleveland president of the organization, said Dambach, the first person in the history of the OCC to win the honor, will be awarded an "OCC Oscar" during an annual banquet in Columbus tomorrow night.

Patterson said the congress, to which more than 100 Ohio fishing and hunting clubs belong, believes Dambach has done an outstanding job trying "to keep more than one million fishermen and 700,000 hunters happy" while carrying out his duties as chief of the Ohio Wildlife division.

"We have watched his work closely," Patterson added, "and a committee headed by Larry Waddell of Kent, a former Ohio conservation commissioner himself, decided that Dr. Dambach was highly worthy of the honor."

OCC officials said they intend to honor each year the person who has done the most for conservation in Ohio.

The Ohio Conservation congress will open a two-day annual convention in Columbus tomorrow with a panel discussion on outdoor problems led by State Natural Resources Director A. W. Marion.

U.S. Rep. Michael J. Kirwan (D-Youngstown) will be the main speaker at the banquet.

will try upsetting the Big Blue again tonight in Troy and landing a berth tomorrow with the Springfield—Dayton Stivers survivor.

Springfield is the state's defending Class A champion with an 18-5 mark while Stivers holds the distinction of winning more state championships than any other team.

Coventry (21-4), winners Tuesday over Cleveland Collinwood in a playoff game in Kent, meets Elyria (15-6) tonight in Kent while Euclid (14-8) tangles with Barborton (20-1).

In Youngstown, Girard (23-2) battles Canton McKinley, the team which has advanced to regional meets 14 times and to finals four times without winning a title. Second half play in Youngstown will pit Martins Ferry (29-4) against Youngstown Rayen (11-12).

the last ten minutes of regulation play.

Brigham Young, third-seeded but lightly regarded in the pre-tourney figuring, breezed to a 69-59 victory over Seton Hall.

The NIT, recovering slowly but surely from the blight of basketball fix revelations, drew 16,815 spectators—its largest attendance thus far. At the end, the fans were impressed equally with the two winners.

DAYTON CAUGHT the eye by ripping St. John's apart in the overtime after losing their key stars, Don Meineke and Leland Norris, on fouls.

The Flyers led, 30 to 25, at halftime and 53 to 43 midway through the second half. With Meineke and Norris out, the Redmen drove back to tie it at 58-58 on Zeke Zawoluk's layup with 35 seconds to go.

St. John's sprang away to a 62-to-59 lead in the extra period, but buckets by Vaughn Taylor, stand-in for Meineke, and Chuck Grigsby unloosed a ten-point Flyer deluge in the last two minutes.

Meineke, who scored 67 points in two previous games, hit for only 11 last night. But brilliant defensive rebounding by Capt. Dick Campbell and 19 points by Grigsby helped take up the slack.

Brigham Young could do nothing wrong. Overhauling an early Seton Hall lead, the Cougars were off and running, 33 to 26, by the intermission. After that, Seton Hall never got closer than the final ten-point margin.

BY used six iron men to outplay three Seton Hall platoons, and the Pirates just folded up before the Cougars' fast break. Flashy Roland Minson led the Cougars with 26 points for a two-game total of 54, but an equally important factor was Mel Hutchins' immobilization of Seton Hall's 6'10" Walt Dukes.

Dukes managed to top the Pirates with 17 points, but he was powerless in the rebounding department where he had sparked in earlier games.

2 Giant Stars Are Injured

MIAMI, March 16—The New York Giants will be without the services of Second Baseman Ed Stanky for one week and Outfielder Roy Weatherly for at least six weeks.

Weatherly suffered a fractured jaw yesterday when he was hit in the face by a line drive during batting practice prior to the Giants' exhibition game with the Phillies.

Stanky was hit in the left wrist by a drive off the bat of Ed Waitkus during the game. He suffered a painful bruise and will miss the three-game series with the Dodgers beginning tonight.

Monroe Indians Honored Here

Monroe Township's championship Indian basketball team was honored Thursday night during a special recognition banquet in Court-Main restaurant.

Guest speaker during the special program was Ray Davis, Circleville attorney and member of the Circleville board of education.

Pirates Sign 4 Prep Stars

LOS ANGELES, March 16—The signing of four much sought after Los Angeles area prep baseball stars, including fabulous Wally Sinner of Bell High, was announced today by Pittsburgh Pirate Scout Howie Haak.

Sinner, 18, who pitched five no-hitters in his last two prep seasons, will be farmed to Maysfield, Ky., of the Kitty League.

Others signed by Haak are Frank Ornelas, left-handed pitcher; Bill Bryant, right-handed outfielder, and Gene Mollie, another southpaw hurler.

Wesleyan, Army Agree To Cancel Football Game

DELAWARE, March 16—Ohio Wesleyan university has announced that by mutual agreement the football game slated for Sept. 22 between the Battling Bishops and the Cadets of West Point has been cancelled.

In a joint statement, Ohio Wesleyan and the U. S. Military Academy said:

"The difference in strength between the two teams would appear to be so much greater because of the present emergency, which has affected male enrollments at liberal arts colleges, that both parties thought it advisable not to go ahead with the game scheduled over a year ago."

Col. O. C. Krueger, Army athletic director, said West Point will not schedule another game for "that date."

University Athletic Director George E. Gauthier said Ohio Wesleyan would attempt to arrange another game for either Sept. 22 or Oct. 6 to complete an eight-game schedule.

Sportsmen's Club Assured Local Lake To Be OKd

Pickaway County Farmers' and Sportsmen's Association was reassured Thursday night that the local lake dam definitely will be completed.

Speaking to the sports group was Ed Wallace of Circleville, Pickaway County's representative to the state legislature.

Wallace told the sportsmen that the Pickaway County lake in Devil's Backbone is one of three conservation dam projects which definitely will be completed.

Wallace added that he has conferred with the governor and the head of the conservation department and both have agreed to back the project fully.

The local representative said that the local lake is not being considered solely as a Pickaway County project.

H told the sportsmen that the lake is considered a Central Ohio project and is expected to be used by a great number of persons in and around the capital.

NEW BLUEPRINTS for the dam have been drawn up, Wallace continued, and state officials from the governor downward have given assurance that the project will be completed "as soon as funds are available."

State wildlife officials have given the dam an official stamp of approval with the exception of the spillway. More than an estimated $100,000 is expected to be appropriated to complete the job.

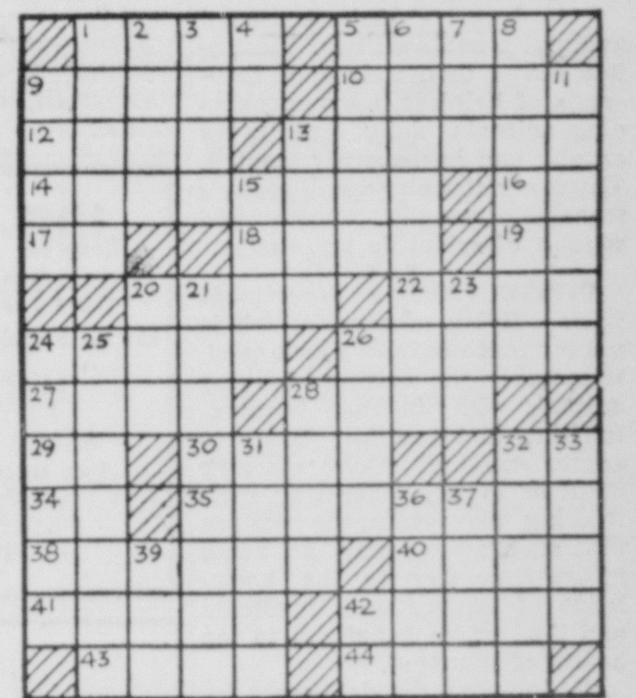

Meanwhile, the local sports group is beginning a membership campaign to make its issues more forceful.

At present, only about 100 local sportsmen and farmers are members of the Association.

Are you supporting an oil-bog in your basement? Get rid of it now—put in a Winkler LP*. You'll save up to 50% in oil—cut service costs—enjoy the most carefree heating you've ever known. Here's what owners say—

I saved 40%

"At last I am completely satisfied with oil heat. The day my burner went to pieces, I felt quite badly, but now I can see it was really a lucky day. After you installed a Winkler LP* Burner, and I saw what it would do, I wouldn't be without it. Why should I, with a saving this year of 40%?"

Mrs. Shirley Hill, Portsmouth, N. H.

Costs less than hand-fired coal

"Last winter, the Winkler Oil Burner required only $125.64 worth of oil and in previous years we burned nine to ten tons of coal at $17.50 per ton. I will certainly recommend this oil burner to anyone desiring trouble-free and economical heating."

State Organization Raps Local Humane Society Setup

Vivisection Approval Here Hit

Local Dog-Handling Change Is Urged

The Anti-Vivisection Society of Ohio, a corporation with headquarters in Cleveland, this week pointed its finger at Pickaway County and gave a disgusted cry.

The anti-vivisection group, a super humane society, is strong in its campaign against the use of animals for medical laboratory experiments.

It cried "Shame!!!" at Pickaway County as the result of a newspaper clipping reporting that the local humane society had lost its battle to the county commissioners on the disposition of stray dogs.

The anti-vivisection society, distributing a vast amount of literature through the local mails, reproduced the clipping, originally printed last December, which reads as follows:

"THE PICKAWAY County Humane Society has lost its debate on disposition of 'guests' in the local dog pound.

"The society objected to the county commissioners' practice of sending unwanted dogs to the Pittman-Moore Chemical company in Indianapolis for experimental purposes.

"Ralph Wallace, dog warden, had objected to the sales, saying he preferred to destroy all unclaimed strays in the county's gas chambers.

In the experiments the dogs are injected with distemper, or other serums, and the blood is then drained from their body for study. The experiments are made for the study of disease prevention and cure, the company said.

"The three county commissioners said that the debate was over and that the sales would continue. Some 45 dogs have been sold to the company within the past three months."

And then the society's literature, addressed to "Citizens of Circleville," continues:

"In drug laboratories and medical schools all over the United States thousands upon thousands of helpless, uncomprehending animals daily are being cruelly and barbarously treated. These are the victims of today's frenzied, morally uncontrolled pursuit of scientific knowledge.

VIVISECTION is experiment upon a living creature which is not for that creature's own good. It includes the cutting of living animals with knives, burning, roasting and freezing them to death, smothering and starving them or in any other way maltreating them with the excuse that such action may at some future time add to the knowledge of science and medicine and thus prove beneficial to the health of mankind.

"It includes the deliberate infliction of disease upon sound and wholesome creatures through inoculation with virulent matter or the feeding of unnatural substances. Present Brink Grocery Still In Business

Sale of a former grocery in the southend of Circleville has caused considerable confusion in that neighborhood.

The Lawrence Brink grocery still is in business. It is located at 202 Logan street.

The former grocery, used for the last several years as a two-family dwelling, is located at 201 Logan street, Brink reports.

The old property was sold on the sheriff's block for $3,000 on orders of Pickaway County Common Pleas court.

The sale, was ordered in a mortgage foreclosure suit brought by Bertha L. Teegardin and Helen H. Smith, trustees of the George W. Hitler estate.

Named as defendants in the suit are Lawrence Brink, Cora Brink, the Kirk Grocery Co. and the United States of America.

Lawrence Brink mortgaged the property to George W. Hitler in 1947. Then in May 1949, he deeded the building to the Kirk Grocery Co. in payment of a debt. The United States government entered the picture in June, 1949, when it placed a lien against the property to collect income tax owed by Brink.

animals, not to the increase of their misery through release to the inhumanities of vivisection.

"You can help in the great national effort to eliminate laboratory cruelties.

"Your first step, as a taxpayer, is to entreat the Pickaway County Humane Society to accord as painless a death as possible to all homeless, unwanted dogs and cats entrusted to its care."

The society then invites memberships, stressing that it is a "non-profit, charitable" organization.

Translator Aids Divorce Case

CINCINNATI, March 16—An interpreter had to be called in before Yoshie Muraoka, 49, of Cincinnati, could get a divorce from her husband, Kenji Muraoka, 52.

Mrs. Muraoka speaks no English, so the court authorized her niece, Mrs. Shizuko Ina, to explain that Muraoka "used vile language in Japanese to his wife in the presence of persons who could understand it."

Mrs. Muraoka also charged her husband associated with another woman. The divorce was granted on grounds of neglect and extreme cruelty.

Chicken Hatch Running High

WASHINGTON, March 16—The number of chicks hatched by commercial hatcheries in February broke the record for that month.

The Bureau of Agricultural Economics reports 158.5 million chicks were hatched last month, compared with less than 142 million in February of last year and 35 percent above the postwar average.

Losing His Shoes Also Loses Wife

CINCINNATI, March 16—The lost shoes of William L. Swartz, 28, helped him lose his Cincinnati divorce case.

The court turned down his plea yesterday after Mrs. Swartz testified that once when she bought him a new pair of shoes to attend a meeting, he returned home with "a bottle of whisky, but no shoes."

Supreme Court Ponders Lower Phone Rates

COLUMBUS, March 16—The Ohio supreme court has under advisement today the motions by six Ohio cities for an order enforcing lower telephone rates and a big refund from the Ohio Bell Telephone Co.

The high court heard oral argument yesterday on the pleas of Cleveland, Columbus, Akron, Dayton, Canton and Toledo against Ohio Bell's appeal against a Dec. 26 order by the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio.

The commission has since ordered the $2 million annual rate cut and the $4 million held in abeyance until the question is finally settled. The cities, in another action, have asked the supreme court to hold the commission in contempt if it does not enforce its original order immediately.

PUCO many months ago set a valuation on Ohio Bell's property and authorized a certain profit on it.

The high court chopped $37 million off that valuation, requiring the reduction and refund.

Ohio Bell claims the valuation should not have been cut more than $4 million. The cities claim it should have been reduced by $43 million.

Israel Asking German Payoff

TEL AVIV, March 16—The state of Israel has sent notes to the United States, Britain, France and Russia claiming $1.5 billion in reparations from Germany.

The large claim reportedly is based on the actual physical and material losses which Jews suffered in Nazi-occupied Europe as well as the amount Israel spent in rehabilitating the victims of Nazi persecution.
